Police management have arrest targets and these statistics are misleading and as a result amounts to fruitless and wasteful expenditure. We all know about this situation that the abuse is endemic in South Africa.

Unfortunately when the police arrest they often mostly exceed their powers to arrest and lose sight when it is appropriate and necessary to arrest. When you are arrested your liberty to freedom is infringed and which is a basic human right. Arresting must only be done where necessary.

Our team of expert attorneys understands the trauma that you suffered when you were arrested. If you are reading this page it is most probable that you were a victim of an unlawful arrest.

Once our experienced attorneys consider and understand the circumstances that lead to your arrest, you will be in a better position to sue the Minister of Police.

Also, during your arrest you may have experienced police misconduct.

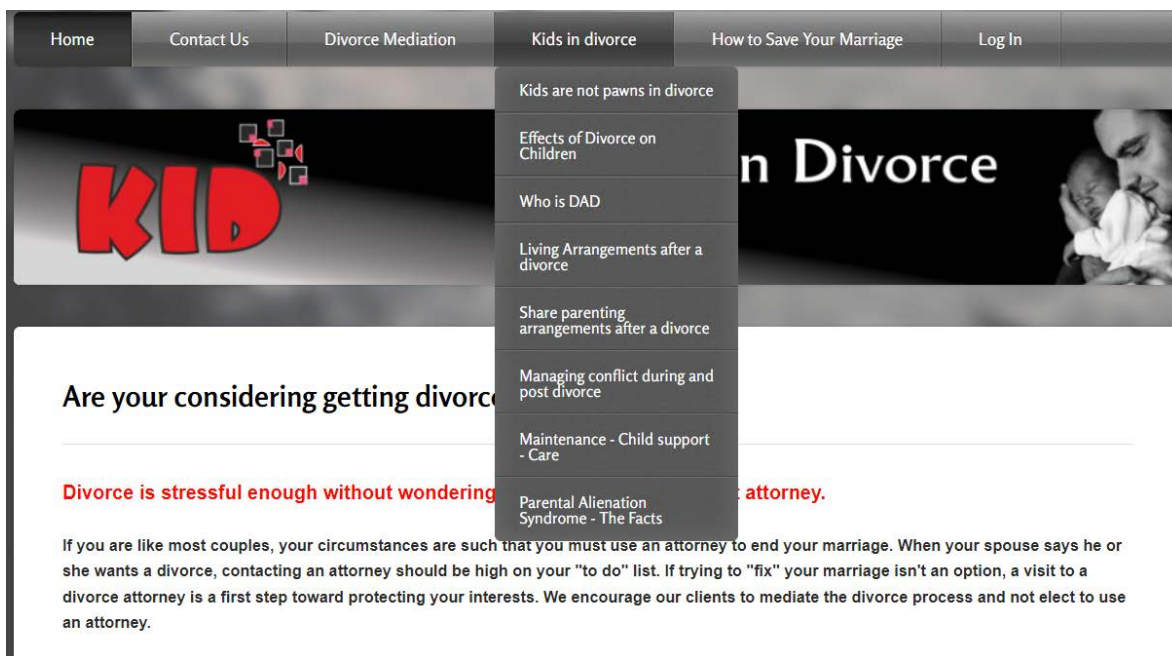

This includes :

- excessive use of force
- police brutality
- prison injury
- illegal or improper search
- sexual abuse

Divorce is stressful enough without wondering if you have hired the right attorney.

If you are like most couples, your circumstances are such that you must use an attorney to end your marriage. When your spouse says he or she wants a divorce, contacting an attorney should be high on your “to do” list. If trying to “fix” your marriage isn’t an option, a visit to a divorce attorney is a first step toward protecting your interests. We encourage our clients to mediate the divorce process and not elect to use an attorney.

What is Mediation ?

Divorce mediation is one of the option that you available to find solutions to settle issues before or after a divorce. In this process you don’t battle your way through court proceedings to come to an agreement. Instead you and your estranged spouse work with a skilled mediator who helps you work together to reach an amicable agreement about how to divide your assets and family responsibilities.

This divorce option doesn't directly involve lawyers, however, it is a good idea to have one on retainer in case you have legal questions.

Well the choice is yours ! At KIDS our proficient legal team will prepare all your legal documents to ensure a that your divorce is handled quickly. KIDS has had years of experience, we are able to assist families through the process of a divorce keeping stress to a minimum. We promote fairness, equality, family values and most important, the best interests of the children.

KIDS promotes mediation and not the adversarial system. It is way too costly to involve yourself in court battles . We encourage the involvement of both parents in the lives of children, promote mutual respect and co-operation between the genders, and are dedicated to making divorce less adversarial. It is important that we encourage all of the parties to work together. These then provide the best role models for the children.

KIDS greatly encourage parents to step forward and assume responsibility for their children, improve themselves, and be the very best they can be. Where children are involved our objective is to keep 'suffering' to a minimum for in the case when parents interests precede their children when the KIDS have become pawns. We are able to assist parents to continue the effective parenting of their children pre and post divorce. So let us mediate your divorce!#
